Magnetic, practical, good

Put an end to the junk drawer!

Birmingham, 06/03/2022 – Everyone knows them and most people have them too – the so-called "junk drawer". It serves here as a synonym for the mess that any number of little things cause behind closed doors. If that's the case, then there's only one thing left to do: search! The VS ADD® Separator puts an end to this, because the smart dividers make it child's play to divide the Vauth-Sagel design trays individually. Thanks to the infinite adjustability, there are limitless possibilities for all living spaces. Two integrated magnets ensure a secure grip and the rubber coating on the inside dampens noise and prevents scratching the surface.

"This innovation has emerged from our daily experience and the essential need for orderliness. Functional, practical and flexible to use - simply smart," says Vauth-Sagel Managing Director Claus Sagel.
The VS ADD® Separator magnetically attracts orderliness. This means that all the desired items are well placed for more orderliness in the space - no matter where. The system can be mounted variably, adheres to all metallic surfaces and has the same thin walls and materials as the Planero® and Essentio storage variants. The VS ADD® Separator thus fits seamlessly into these design lines. Because the same materiality of powder-coated sheet steel and the optimally coordinated, reduced design make the interplay perfect. Even more icing on the cake: in combination with the VS ADD® Board and VS ADD® Box organisational elements, the VS ADD® Separator brings smart orderliness and easy accessibility to all living spaces.
